

Whys in Pharmacy: A Compilation of Reasons Underlying the Principles of Pharmacy Supplemented by a Tables of Equations (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Whys in Pharmacy: A Compilation of Reasons Underlying the Principles of Pharmacy Supplemented by a Tables of Equations. In revising this book the questions are based on the United States Pharmacopoeia IX and the National Formulary IV. On account of the prominence into which the latter has come because of the Food and Drugs Law, many questions and reactions are given regarding the preparations recognized by it. The number of assay processes has been largely increased and the reasons for the different steps are given. With added years of experience as a teacher, the writer has become more strongly impressed with the necessity of stressing the reasons for the methods as given and for the cultivation of the inquiring spirit in students.
