

The Allure Of The Wild

A work of fiction - written with Nature lovers in mind, this story is about wild-life, country-folk and their way of life - set in The Lake District of Cumbria, England, where every problem in life is eased as peace and beauty shed their blessings like sunset glow at eventide. Jake Goodwin is a young man who has a love of solitary places, the seeing eye and a sympathetic heart for all living creatures. Its a three mile tramp over the fells from the cottage where he lives with his widowed mother, to the moss-clad barn in which he works as apprentice carpenter alongside Fletcher Hopper, over in Uldale. Jake makes a friend of young Julia Furnell, whose parents have taken over Uldale Farm. Over the years, their love of nature draws the two young people closer together. Will Hopper, Fletchers rascalion, dare-devil son, fights Jake over Julia. But will she turn to him? Or does her heart belong to Jake? When tragedy strikes, it changes Jakes life. Will he loose his shyness and tell Julia how he feels about her? Or is he to lead a life of loneliness?
